Operators - Miners See Negotiations Move Up To U. S.

Believe Government Must
Issue Call For New Coal
Wage Parley

THREAT OF COAL STRIKE DELAYED

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—Coal operators and mine union representatives agreed today that it is up to the government to issue an invitation for negotiations on a new bituminous wage agreement.

An industry representative commented: "The government ought to get the boys back in the ring. They're all out now."

Union spokesmen also indicated that parleys between UMW President John L. Lewis and the mine owners are not likely to begin until the federal coal mines administration calls the parties into conference.

A new contract between Lewis and the operators will be needed when government control of the pits expires June 30. The supreme court decision upholding contempt convictions against Lewis and the union reinstates the government-UMW pact until that date.

Await Lewis' Action

Secretary of the Interior Krug told a radio audience last night, however, that the government will not attempt to arrange a bargaining session until the supreme court issues a formal mandate implementing its ruling.

Krug said that the high courts decision "reduced the threat of a coal strike temporarily."

Attorney General Tom C. Clark has asked the high tribunal to "use the mandate immediately" instead.

All Out Attack On Yenian Near

Chinese Nationalist Advance
Is Only 50 Miles From Communist Capital

YENIAN, March 8.—(INS)—Chiang Kai-Shek's advancing Nationalist troops stand only 50 miles south of Yenian today while the Chinese Communist capital hurries preparations to meet what its leaders expect to be an "all out attack" against the ancient city.

The city is being emptied of women, children and men too old to fight.

Every day mule trains move out along dusty trails which wind between eroded brown hills in northern Shensi Province. They are on a three-day trek to prepared evacuation areas.

Yenian's population has dwindled from a wartime peak of 50,000 to its present 15,000.

For more than three months, every available person has been making land mines—by stuffing explosives into earthenware cooking utensils and iron kettles left behind by evacuees.

Fire Damages British Warship's New Equipment

The fire was said to have been caused by a short circuit, and caused particular heavy damage to radar equipment.

U. S. Awaiting British Move On Palestine

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 8.—(INS)—The United States is waiting for Britain today to make an official move on Palestine to the United Nations before making any commitments.

In a tacit rebuff to U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie for undertaking the initiative by proposing a fact-finding committee before the British government laid down a formal request for action to him, the United States answered his soundings as follows:

"The United States is unable to reach final conclusions in respect to the best procedure for dealing with the Palestine problem in the United Nations in the absence of a concrete formulation of the problem by the British government."

The secretary-general had asked consent of the Big Five powers to the creation of a fact-finding committee in place of an anticipated proposal by Britain for a costly special assembly. France, Russia and China had indicated their consent in principle after the British government let it be known that it favored such a procedure.

MISS JULIA JOHNS IS GIVEN OVATION

Members of the Valley of New Castle Consistory, particularly those who like good music, drank to their fill Friday evening in the Cathedral, when the entertainment committee of the Consistory presented the Cathedral Male Chorus in a group of numbers, supported by Miss Julia Johns, mezzo soprano, New Castle's most promising young artist of the moment, and Miss Ruth Cotton, lyric soprano, and John Kirby, tenor and well known radio artist, of Pittsburgh.

The well arranged program delighted the audience, and the entertainment was topped off by a fine talking picture.

Much credit for the evening's program is due Sam Lewis, the new director of the chorus, who has had a lifetime of experience in this line of work, and who toured some years back with a fine group of artists in the concert field.

Accompanying the group were three talented artists who did much to aid with the perfection of the evening's program, Ernel E. Branstetter, accompanist for the chorus; Mrs. Richard K. Allen, who accompanied.

Report Truman Will Ask Loan To Aid Greece

PRESIDENT CANCELS CARIBBEAN TOUR

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(INS)—President Truman will make known to the world Monday his position on the Greek crisis, in what may embark the United States upon new and historic action in the European sphere.

The White House today broke its official silence on the situation in Greece and announced that the president would issue an important statement.

Mr. Truman will describe the action decided upon in the Balkan crisis created by Britain's near economic collapse and the appeals by both the United Kingdom and Greece for American aid to prevent collapse of the Greek government.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—GOP leaders in congress shelved their budget-cutting problem today pending President Truman's Monday message on aid to Greece and an explanation of the military aspects involved.

Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., house appropriations chairman who heads the house-senate budget conferees, disclosed that he had received a report from Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson on the Greek situation.

Taber said he wanted to analyze the report before discussing it publicly.

One question understood to be bothering the state and war departments—as well as congressional leaders—was that of furnishing the Greek army with military supplies and equipment.

U. S. Correspondents Arrive In Moscow

Land After Plane Flight From Berlin: Planes Immediately Start Return Trip

MOSCOW, March 8.—(INS)—United States correspondents assigned to the Big Four conference were in Moscow today making feverish preparations for coverage of one of the biggest stories of our time.

Covering the treaty talks for the International News Service are Kingsbury Smith, European general manager; Leon Pearson, manager of the Paris Bureau, and Natalia Rene, regular Moscow correspondent.

The news teams arrived yesterday in three American overseas airliners after a five-hour flight from Berlin. They were the first commercial flights the United States has ever made into the Soviet capital.

Hopes that the planes were blazing a new air route were soon blasted. For the planes were ordered to take off on their home journey within a half-hour after arrival, and to be outside Soviet territory before nightfall.

Many of Moscow's hotels have been redecorated for the conference. A bureau of girl guides and interpreters has been established, and a fleet of new automobiles has been assigned to it.

The capital is covered with snow, and cold weather is expected to continue for several weeks.

to a conference Monday morning with Mr. Truman hoped to have this issue and others clarified. The president indefinitely postponed his Caribbean trip in order to remain in Washington while the ticklish Greek problem is ironed out.

Until congress gets a "better picture of the whole situation," Taber said the fiscal experts seeking a compromise on cuts in Mr. Truman's 37½ billion dollar budget would not meet.

It was said that the Monday message will recommend a 250-million dollar loan to Greece.

May Make Radio Address

The president may follow his message up with a radio address to inform the American public on the need for aid to the distressed Greeks and explain its bearing on American foreign policy.

Supplying arms or technical military equipment to the Greek nationalists was left as one of the uncertainties in the equation when Secretary of State Marshall took off for the Moscow conference.

If the state department decides that congressional authorization is required for a transfer of surplus transport and other military equipment, a sharp fight is in prospect.

Foreign Policy Debate?

One senator predicted that a full-dress foreign policy debate was certain to follow Mr. Truman's message in the senate.

One estimate was that of the full credit to Greece about 100 million dollars would be represented in military materiel. War and state department authorities were described as uncertain whether this amount could be provided from Surplus U. S. stocks in Germany.

Sen. Fulbright (D) Ark. declared that the country is facing a "momentous decision" in passing upon the matter of aid to Greece. He said:

"The time is now to tell the facts."

The secretary of state reviewed the results of his Paris stopover visit with the declaration that talks with President Vincent Auriol and Premier Ramadier gave him the chance to get at first hand their views on grave problems perplexing Europe.

Marshall said that he plans to depart for Moscow by plane tomorrow morning after a conference with Gen. Mark W. Clark.

WASHINGTON CALLING by MARQUIS CHILDS

British May Direct Exports, Limit Imports

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—The following conversation, it is scarcely necessary to point out, never took place. But I believe that, if President Truman had sat down with a member of the British cabinet after his Baylor University speech, the talk would have gone very much like this. It represents what British cabinet members are saying privately and off the record these days.

Mr. Truman is seated in his sunny oval office in the White House. He is pleased with the reception to his speech calling for an international trade organization to promote trade in the old unrestricted way. The British cabinet minister has just come from weary, snow-bound England, and his subdued manner is in contrast to Mr. Truman's brisk optimism.

The President: I hope you've had a chance to read the speech I made down in Texas. I tried to put into that speech a program that almost all Americans would agree to. You know, I think we've come to realize, as a people, that if we want to sell goods to the rest of the world, we're going to have to take more imports than we've ever taken before.

British minister: Yes, Mr. President, I read your speech and I thought it an excellent expression of an admirable ideal. But at the moment, I'm hesitatingly.

The President: You have some reservations? After all, it hasn't been easy to arrive at a compromise that the Republicans could accept. You have to remember that we're trying to work out a bipartisan foreign policy in this country, something we've never had before.

British minister: I appreciate what a great undertaking that is, sir. But I was going to say that Britain's present position is so very difficult I am afraid we are shortly going to have to start directing our exports and restricting certain types of imports.

The President: But that would mean a very bad reaction here. It might jeopardize the whole world trade organization, and it certainly wouldn't help our negotiators at the conference in Geneva in April, where we hope to get some real tariff concessions both ways.

British minister: We realize that all too well, Mr. President. But the fact remains of the extreme urgency on our position with respect to balance of payments.

The President: The other day I saw a report the other day from your people that seemed to show you were in fairly good shape.

British minister: On the surface that seems to be true. But actually it is not true. As a realist in our treasury put it, we are at the moment borrowing our imports and sending out our exports for nothing. What he meant was that we are buying our essential imports with money obtained on loans from the United States and Canada. And we are sending our exports to countries in western Europe which desperately need them, but have nothing we can take in return—and their currencies are not convertible into dollars, which we so badly need.

The President: Well, are you suggesting, then, that Great Britain will need another loan?

British minister: Not at all, sir. We believe that another loan even if it were possible, would merely postpone the day of reckoning. There is the unhappy parallel of the 1920's when both your government and ours made large loans to Germany which served no real purpose except to make the collapse greater when it came. What we would hope, sir, is that your government could make loans to our customers in western Europe, so that they could buy your products and thereby rehabilitate their industry, and then in turn sell to us and ultimately repay you. This seems to us essential, along with a rehabilitation of the Ruhr.

The President: Let's get this straight. If you have to start directing your exports and restricting your imports, where will it hit us first?

British minister: Of course, it would be a considerable time taking effect after we announced the orders, and we would hope that something could be done in the interval. I imagine we should have to cut down on tobacco and American films first of all.

The President: We'd hear from North Carolina right away if that happened, and from California, too.

British minister: We should deeply regret it, sir. The French are constantly after us to take more champagne, but we tell them we can't possibly afford champagne. As the British visitor departs, the President looks out reflectively on the snowy White House lawn. It is not nearly as cheerful a world as it seemed half an hour before.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Sometimes I wonder why people think that writers and artists are beings set apart from the rest of the human race.

Every now and then I get letters from readers expressing their admiration of my "wisdom" and telling me that their own ambition is to become a writer.

Naturally that sort of thing may easily tend to make a person conceited, and in my younger days, I used to preen myself and think I was a pretty smart sort of chap.

But time and experience take most of the vanity out of you. So I am smart, am I?

Well, here I sit at my typewriter knocking out my "wisdom" with three fingers.

And yet, that very typewriter at which I labor is a complete mystery to me.

There are hundreds of different parts in this little machine. Each part fits in with the other, but I don't even know how to change a ribbon.

Some engineer, or maybe a whole group of engineers, have toiled and labored to invent and improve this typewriter—surely men much smarter than I.

Who are they? I don't know, and I am sure you don't know.

On my way to work I ride on a train that is pulled by a giant Diesel engine, the result of some unknown and unnameable genius. I suppose his name was Diesel, but maybe it was Smith or Jones or Ginsburg, for all the world knows or cares.

My train passes hundreds of industrial plants. In these plants gen-

As you did long years ago.
When in her youth and beauty
With her eyes and cheeks aglow,
You vowed that naught could lessen,
That naught but death could part,
Just tell her that you love her,
And press her to your heart.

Just take her in your arms again,
And kiss her faded cheek,
And talk of love and early days,
And see her old eyes speak
Of joys that spring eternal
When hearts are loyal still,
Just tell her that you love her,
And that you always will.

Now maybe you are not as old as the poem makes out . . . maybe you haven't been married 25 years . . . but if you have been married over five . . . then you can well afford to take a little time to get acquainted with the better half . . . and the better half can also use the thoughts mentioned above. What is there in life . . . if the family ties break.

So many of us take so much time outside the home . . . yes, certain things need done in a community . . . but it wouldn't be nearly so tough on a few if everyone would but do his part. Anyone can tear down . . . only the worthwhile can constantly build . . . and the future is so very much more important than the past . . . cooperation is all you need to give.

The World and the Mud Puddles

THAT 'WELFARE' BONUS

There is an ancient yarn about a middle-aged darkey who was sentenced by the Judge to ninety-nine years in prison. Asked if he had anything to say for himself, he protested to the Judge: "Well, all I got to say is you sure make pretty free with other people's time." A protest before a congressional committee against the 5-cent-a-ton "welfare" bonus handed John L. Lewis in his contract with the government, suggests that the owners of the coal mines feel that Interior Secretary Krug has made pretty free with their property.

A declaration to the committee by a spokesman for the operation that they will never consent to the "economic blackmail" indicates that the government's so-called "settlement" of the coal strike by appeasing Mr. Lewis is doomed to failure. As the situation stands, it appears that the government is "stuck with the mines, which are to be returned to their owners only after the owners agree to the terms imposed. Inasmuch as the mines have been making no profits for some time past, the owners probably are losing little sleep over their return.

There is no real authority in the government to impose terms of settlement on employers. The Smith-Connally Act authorizes the seizure and operation of struck plants as a war emergency measure. But it does not empower the government to force employers to accept or fulfill wage contracts which they regard as detrimental to their interests. Such an act on the part of the government is clearly confiscatory and unconstitutional. The settlement made by Secretary Krug with John L. Lewis was purely a deal of politics and expediency, disregarding the interests of mine owners and the public. Its utility, even as a matter of appeasing the labor dictator, was proved within a few months by the preemptory demand for "renegotiation" and the calling of a strike.

There is no power in the executive to endow any labor union with authority to levy tax on the products of industry. The sole taxing power of this country is in the Congress. To permit a union dictator to assess every user of coal five cents a ton, on whatever pretext of "health" or "welfare" is clearly against the spirit of the Constitution. It is easy to see that unless this "bonus" taxation is repealed and stopped, it will subject the people to endless levies superimposed upon their legal taxes and adding tremendously to living costs.

If the Secretary of the Interior can by ukase legalize the collection of the 5-cent coal tax, then the Interstate Commerce Commission by ukase can levy a similar tax on every passenger and every pound of freight carried by the railroads. The Secretary of Agriculture can by ukase levy a special tax on wheat, corn, pork and beef; the Secretary of Commerce can levy a tax on all automobiles, electrical equipment and household furnishings. It might be added that if a tax of 5-cents-a-ton on coal is permissible, there is no reason why a tax of ten cents or twenty-five cents, or a dollar is not equally permissible.

The coal mine owners owe it to themselves and to the country to reject any compromise in this issue, which is a revival of the tyranny of taxation without representation—for the consumers who pay the levy have no voice in the matter. The Congress owes it to the people to protect them against this form of extortion, which will spread without limit unless checked at the beginning.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

PUNISH A CHILD IN PRIVATE

I have most affectionate memories of my father and mother. If I could give as much in things not made with hands or bought with price to my children as my parents gave to my brothers, sister and me, I would feel that my parenthood had, on the whole, been a blessing.

Yet in spite of my parents' wisdom and lovely ways, my father once did something to me which I think was harmful. It stands out vividly in my memory. It is the kind of thing many other lovely parents do today.

A man our family always looked up to with great esteem once called for a visit. As it was on a week day and the guest, a farmer, was dressed up and was received in the "parlor" it seemed to me, then a boy about ten, to be a very important occasion.

Paid A Compliment

After the guest had paid me a compliment my father added: "But he does some bad things sometimes." Then my father related in detail one of my recent misdeeds. Though he gave an accurate account I was deeply humiliated. As I had been duly punished for the deed right after it happened, I felt that bringing it up then was too much. I'm sure father didn't mean to embarrass me. The matter just came into his head and he out with it.

But some parents will purposely humiliate the erring child in public supposing it is a good way to discipline him. A kind woman who seems to spend much of her time helping other adults understand children better wrote me:

"I would like to tell you about a very highly-respected business man here in — who has a fine little boy seven years old that did a little wrong deed. To punish him the father placed the lad on a stool in his place of business and as each customer came in he would tell them what the boy had done (Continued on Next Page)

Washington Reports

Congressman Lodge Tells About Congressman Lodge Russ Diplomatic Attacks Countering U. S. Radio? "Clear It With Mollison" Is W. A. A. Order.

(Special To Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 8.—Rep. John Davis Lodge (R) of Connecticut, younger brother of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge (R) of Massachusetts, is determined to make his presence felt on Capitol Hill.

Observers believe that the younger Lodge, once a Hollywood actor, is proceeding on the theory, "If you don't tout your own horn, the same will not be tooted."

The congressman used his frank privilege to notify the press and radio of the nation's capital that he had been honored by Speaker Joe Martin, who chose him to read Washington's Farewell Address as part of the congressional observance of Washington's birthday.

The announcement from Lodge's office read: "This was considered an unusual honor to be paid the Connecticut congressman is view of the fact that he is a first term member. Lodge was chosen, it is understood, because of his known accomplishments as a public speaker."

"The honor of leading the House participation in such ceremonies is much sought after and the selection of Congressman Lodge again called attention to the full House membership of his abilities."

"Congressman Lodge first attracted attention of the older members of the House . . . by his selection to the important foreign affairs committee, a very signal honor for a first term member."

Washington politicians are not renowned for modesty, but seldom has a freshman congressman praised himself so frankly and resoundingly.

Political observers in Washington believe that the current barrage of Russian diplomatic attacks against the United States is aimed at counteracting the effectiveness of the new American daily radio broadcast to the Soviet Union.

They suggest that Stalin and Molotov never took seriously the protest to Washington—sharply rejected by Secretary of State Marshall—that Undersecretary of State Acheson "slandered" the USSR by calling its foreign policy "aggressive and expanding."

Nor were the Russians believed to be serious in Pravda's charge that John Foster Dulles, Republican foreign affairs expert and leading churchman, was attempting to set up a war between the Soviet and the United States and Great Britain.

Close followers of Russian tactics say that such outbursts are part of the old Moscow propaganda scheme of maligning the United States as a "counter-measure" to the mission of the American short wave service.

The Acheson incident, oddly enough, produced something of a phenomenon in congress. Rep. Emanuel Celler (D) of New York, pioneer New Dealer who consistently has cast a leftist voice, said the Kremlin protest should be "tossed in the wastebasket."

War Assets Administrator Robert M. Littlejohn wasn't pleased when members of his staff gave conflicting testimony before the Slaughter committee at the fall hearings on war surplus disposal.

And he is making certain it won't happen again.

WAA executives, who might be called to testify at a congressional hearing, are under instructions to "clear it with Mollison"—James A. Mollison, Littlejohn's deputy.

Mollison will compare the facts, figures and opinions to be offered to congress.

After he has done his work, the entire WAA top level will conduct a dry-run of the coming hearing. Tough questions will be asked and efforts will be made to bring forth contradictory statements from the "witnesses."

Presumably, after this intensive schooling, hostile congressmen and tricky questions will be "duck soup" for Littlejohn's boys.

State Police Say:—

Enforcement and education are two of the elements upon which the current highway safety campaign is based. Highway patrol coverage is the foundation of enforcement. During 1946 State police officers in Troop "D" made 20,130 patrols, covering 957,716 miles of highway in Beaver, Butler, Armstrong, Lawrence and Mercer counties. State police officers appeared before 36 different groups, totaling more than 11,700 people. In appeals to individuals to co-operate with us in making our streets and highways safer.

Views Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. S. Foreign Editor)

An implied warning to the German people not to expect any swift recovery from the disasters "their Second World War" brought upon them was evident in official American and British attitudes on the eve of the Big Four Moscow conference.

Both Secretary of State George C. Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin subscribed to the belief it may prove impossible to achieve a German treaty draft at this meeting. No matter how long it lasts.

The initial inference is that the western powers and Soviet Russia are too far apart on fundamentals to enable any early agreement.

But this probably is only part of the picture. Aside from restoring some measure of German domestic economy as a pure and simple matter of business and saving the hard-earned money of taxpayers, the plan for Germany seems to be to let her stew in her own juice and learn finally the lesson that aggressive war does not pay.

The Allies made comparatively good time in preparing a treaty for Italy.

It was not an easy peace, and the Italians are far from satisfied. But at least they have been readmitted into the international family presumably because of Allied convictions that if it had not been for Mussolini, the Italian people would not have gone to war.

While the Germans are felt to harbor a warmaking potential regardless of the stripe or color of their political leaders. The recent round-up of a widespread Nazi gang and the difficulties of achieving demilitarization are cited as grounds for this contention.

There is no question that an eventual German peace treaty is hedged about with tremendous difficulties, not the least of which is the fact that Germany has no central government and no coordination of direction except for the Allied control council.

But it seems equally evident that if the United States and British governments really were enamored of the idea that Germany already has done sufficient penance some sort of quick agreement, subject to possible modification later, could be reached.

With the example of Versailles still sharp in their memory, the Germans probably find it very hard to understand the new international philosophy whose major tenet is prevention of Germany ever again becoming an aggressive menace to the world.

The application of such a theory to a strong-willed nation of 80 million persons who seem to have a magic flair for "asking something out of nothing" is a task that never before has been attempted and is certain to take a great deal of time.

If Germany is to be deprived totally and permanently of airplanes, for example, the other nations of the world must have sufficient numbers and extensive schedules to make sure that all the requirements of international commerce can be handled properly without any assistance from Germany.

If she is able to produce only certain items for export, very considerable reconversion and retooling of the factories she still has intact must be necessary.

Things like this take a very great deal of time and Germany is going to have to wait with all the patience she can muster until the Allies are ready to resume cooperation.

Mexican Menace

When an animal virus threatens the sustenance and livelihood of the people of one nation it becomes also the serious concern of its neighbors. American cattlemen and dairy associations are thoroughly alarmed by a spreading hoof and mouth disease epidemic which President Aleman terms "the Number 1 problem of Mexico."

A vigilant program of embargo and extermination has kept the disease down to a minimum in the United States in recent years, at an annual cost of approximately $4,000,000. But Congress, responding to cries from the Southwest ranges, has recognized that more than embargoes and domestic measures will be necessary to insure against the new menace.

The Senate has completed legislative action on a bill authorizing the United States to cooperate with Mexico by sending technicians and equipment into that country on a mission of wholesale extermination of affected animals. The matter becomes the subject of international diplomacy on the highest level. Importation of bulls from Brazil, a move which the United States warned against, brought the disease to Mexico.

For some weeks has come from deep in the heart of Texas an insistent appeal that a 10-foot fence be built all along the Rio Grande. This is actually a subject before the Senate Foreign Relations committee, but animal scientists point out that such a project probably would be of little avail. Birds, rodents, domestic animals and floods as well as cattle carry the disease.

Mexico already is facing a major economic crisis in the infection of an estimated 700,000 beef and draft animals. A two-nation program of stern eradication, even if costly to both this country and Mexico, would seem to be the logical solution. Congress must be vigilant, of course, to see that Mexico pays its share of the cost.

Billions In Subsidies

That tireless champion of economy in government, Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, has made another survey to determine where the public's money goes. He has come up with some interesting results. Since 1934, he reports, the federal government has handed out subsidies to business, agriculture, states and individuals amounting to $43,000,000,000.

Thus subsidies alone are costing the Treasury approximately $3,333,000,000 a year, which is approximately what it cost to pay the expenses of the United States government 20 years ago.

Many of the activities which have been financed by these subsidies and grants-in-aid are, no doubt, useful and desirable. But it is not enough for those entrusted with the duty of appropriating the taxpayers' funds whether a particular item is desirable. It must also be put to the test whether the government can afford to spend that amount of money on that particular activity.

When government subsidies total more than $3,000,000,000 a year it is surely time to review them and ascertain where they can be trimmed. That they can be reduced without endangering the security of the nation or any essential governmental function is not open to debate.

Checking the trend toward subsidization, in fact, is largely a matter of political courage. The largest and least justifiable subsidies are almost invariably those backed by the most powerful pressure groups.

Teaching By Television

It is doubtful whether many persons would care to be part of the radio audience which viewed the latest in television programs. It was a highly specialized broadcast for a special audience. The stage was an operating room in Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore. The performers were highly skilled surgeons. The audience was composed of 300 other physicians and surgeons who followed each move in the operations on 10 television screens in other rooms in the hospital.

This is one of the first ventures which television has made in the field of education and is a highly promising one. One of the ways in which surgeons learn their profession is by watching experts operate. But the number of students who can watch a single operation is not very great and that which each can see from the sidelines is rather limited.

For this particular problem television has provided an almost perfect answer. Its "eye" can be placed directly over the operating table and focused on the critical area of the operation. The doctors and students watching at television scenes practically see the operation through the eyes of the surgeon who is performing it.

Not many fields of education present closely comparable problems. But it is plain already that the fact that the teacher can be seen as well as heard will greatly enhance the value of radio as an educational medium.

Who's Wearing What

The Custom Tailors' Guild of New York recently announced selection of ten best dressed men of 1946—judged by Gotham standards—chose for their "casual smartness of attire." The list leans heavily to the celebrity side and includes, of all things, a Supreme Court justice, a baseball manager, a movie actor, a stage actor, a United States Senator, a business executive, an alleged radio comedian, an opera singer, an attorney and an orchestra leader.

Their occupations suggest that being smart, rather than casual, helps one to become well dressed. In contrast, the average man's attire does not run to casual smartness. It is more likely to be casual as a rule and smart only on occasion. The ordinarily well-dressed man has almost come to be considered one who can boast a decent suit of clothes and a suitable shirt. Other apparel, equally hard to get, is a help.

Parties must no longer be pulled off with abang except figuratively speaking.

The only legal booms will refer to the stock market, business and presidential candidates.

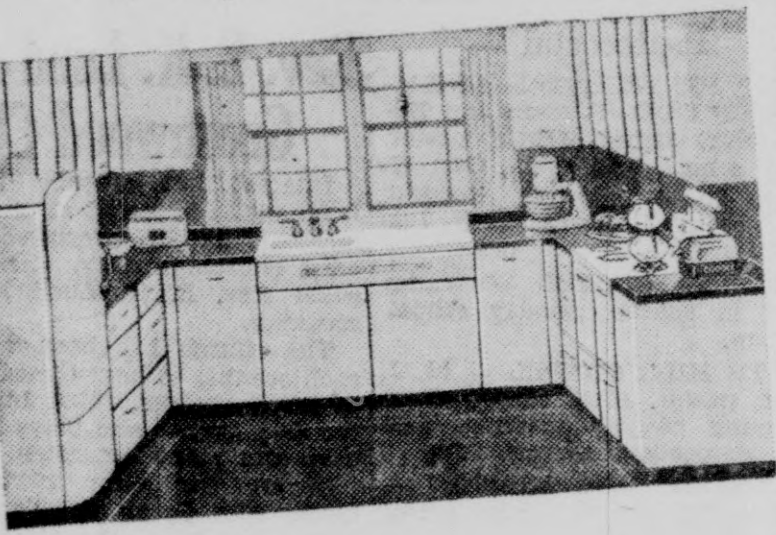

Grandpappy Jenkins says he can recall his old days in the west when the success of a party depended on the caliber of guns packed by the frolicsome guests.

Grandpappy agrees that these old wild west party givers lived a couple of generations too soon. Think what fun those guys would have had playing bean bag with an atom bomb!

DID YOU KNOW?

It's just as wrong to wear jewelry, (wedding rings included) and immodest apparel as it is for a person to go out and get drunk. Please check following Scriptures proving above statement. (Isaiah 55:2) "Wherefore Do Ye Spend Money For That Which Is Not Bread?" Is jewelry bread? (1 Cor. 10:31). "Whatsoever Ye Do, Do All To The Glory Of God." How ABSURD for a person to bow and pray something like this, "Oh God, I pray Thee to bless this jewelry to Thy Glory." Common sense will tell us that God cannot bless jewelry. Many people and popular preachers pattern after the Heathen customs in their dress, and it wouldn't surprise us to see the women of America wearing nose-rings, and running around stark naked some of these days. They're over half-naked already! God SAVE America instead of God Bless America. There is absolutely no argument against this truth.—J. M. Homner.

We specialize in teaching holiness of heart and life.

WE WELCOME YOU TO OUR EVENING SERVICE

Time, 7:45 P. M.

Theme:

"The People Who Discover Marriage Isn't What They Thought It Would Be"

Is there something wrong with marriage, or is there something wrong with the people who marry? This much is true, there is definitely something wrong in marriage today. Is marriage what you thought it would be? If not, why not?

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock a Youth for Christ service has been planned by Dr. Wells and his party, when all young people's organizations of the city will be special guests. Many features have been added to the musical program, which will appeal to music lovers of this area. On Sunday afternoon a special presentation will be Howard Jones of Milwaukee, Wis., known as the Harry James of gospel trumpet music, who will be featured on his trumpet. The girls quintet of Minneapolis will be presented in numerous vocal selection, while Forrest Schickedanz of Peoria will direct the audience in spirited singing. Mr. Schickedanz will also be in charge of the chorus choir of 250 voices who will be presented in vocal selections.

Dr. Wells will speak this evening on "A Refuge of Lies".

Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock it is anticipated that the Cathedral will be filled to hear the musical program and to listen to Dr. Wells speak on "Meet Me In Heaven".

The quintet, Mr. Jones and Mr. Schickedanz, as well as the choir will be heard in many musical selections.

The final service of the two-week revival in which some 20 evangelistic churches of the city along with the Christian Business Men's committee have cooperated, will be presented at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening in the Cathedral, when Dr. Wells will bring one of his most outstanding addresses on "The Greatest Crisis, the Greatest Failure and the Greatest Triumph in the History of the Human Race". A musical program will precede Dr. Wells' sermon.

Monday evening the Smitty girls quintet will be presented in an all musical program at the Cathedral.

L.C.U.S. Will Install Officers

Installation of officers for the Lawrence County Union of Societies will take place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Lucy's church with old and new officers in charge. Officers are to be present at 1:30 o'clock.

Peg O'Leary, president will preside and the new director, Rev. Fr. Francis Gruszynski, who succeeds Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, will also speak.

FORCE DOOR OPEN

Door of Kirk Hutton company was found to have been forced open last night, according to a report made to police. The burglar was apparently frightened away before he could enter the store.

County Contest Now At Half-Way Mark In Campaign

Sunday, March 9, will be the half-way mark of the eight weeks pre-Easter increase campaign being sponsored by the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, and despite unfavorable weather during the first three Sundays, 40 participating Sunday schools have gained points. These are divided among the eight districts as follows: New Castle 16, Wilmington 5, Pulaski 1, Mt. Jackson 3, Ellwood 5, Slippery Rock 3, Plaingrove 2 and Wampum 5.

The leaders at present in the eight districts are: New Castle first group, Highland U. P.; second group, First Pentecostal; third group, Croton Methodist; fourth group, First United Brethren, and fifth group, Bethany Lutheran. Outside of New Castle, Wilmington, the New Wilmington U. P.; Pulaski, the Pulaski Methodist; Mt. Jackson, the Edinburg Methodist; Slippery Rock, the Mt. Hermon Presbyterian; Plaingrove, the Unity Baptist and Wampum district the Wampum Methodist.

It is perhaps providential that the weather conditions have been unfavorable for this required extra effort to make a showing. In some county districts the side roads have been bad in one case causing one Sunday school to suspend services. However, with the better weather that is before us, all of the Sunday school will make additional strides and will gain additional points.

You Haven't Seen Anything Yet In Glamorous Specs

CHICAGO—(INS)—Time was when people bought watches to keep time. Now a lot of people get the things because they are adornments to an otherwise unadorned life. Same thing with glasses, which once were bought to improve the eyesight. They've gone glamorous, too. But people haven't seen anything, yet, according to Mrs. E. W. Arnold, of the Arnold Optical Co., Chicago.

She gave the Association of Independent Optical Wholesalers quite an eyeful of the spectacle of the spectacles of the future.

Lizard Skin Frames
She predicted spectacle frames of lizard skin, frames with the name or initials of the owner on the stems (right next to the ear lobes), and feminine frames set with pearls to match other jewelry worn by those ladies who go in for jewelry.

Already men are buying glasses to match their suits, she asserted. She declared some day women will change their specs two or three times a day "to banish monotony and suit their moods."

Eaton Urges U.S. Aid For Greece

WASHINGTON, March 8.—(INS)—Chairman Eaton (R) N. J., of the house foreign affairs committee, today called for American assistance to Greece "in order that we may fulfill our obligations as a world power".

Eaton urged that financial aid be extended to Greece and that American missions be sent to that country to help rehabilitate the war-devastated nation which is now torn by civil strife.

The congressman said there is no question of sending United States troops to Greece. But, he added that the action taken by congress is nevertheless of the utmost importance. He stated:

"It may well determine whether this world is to be inhabited by slaves or free peoples".

The white-haired Republican leader expressed his views on the Greek situation in an interview on the eve of a message to congress by President Truman on the problem.

Nazis Thought Churchill With Leslie Howard

HOLLYWOOD, March 8.—(INS)—A mistaken Nazi belief that former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill was flying from Portugal to England caused the death of stage and screen star Leslie Howard.

The revelation came today in probate court where approval of a final distribution of the actor's estate was made.

Attorney George Breslin said that Nazi fighters were gunning for Churchill and thought he was riding in the plane in which Howard was riding.

The value of the estate was estimated at $950,000, which was left to the actor's wife and children.

Saavedra, who discovered New Guinea in 1528, gave it the name of Isla de Oro—Island of Gold.

The annual value of Canada's fur production is said to be more than $30,000,000.

Program Attracts Over 800 Children To Baptist Church

O.S.S. Man Of World War II Addresses Boys And Girls Of City At 10:30 This Morning

Once more the First Baptist church, East at North street, was filled to overflowing when more than 800 boys and girls of the city were in attendance this morning at the second "kids jamboree" which was presented in connection in the city-wide evangelistic effort that closes tomorrow evening at the Scottish Rite Cathedral.

In charge of the program was Forrest Schickedanz, song leader for the revival program, who introduced the participants on the program which included the Smitty Girls quintet, Mrs. V. E. Smith, Dr. R. J. Wells, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jones, of Milwaukee, and Frank Olson, former O. S. S. man of World War II.

Mr. Jones, who is an expert cornetist, played several selections on the cornet. Mr. Olson playing an "imaginary" cornet, played several numbers for the boys and girls. The Smitty girls quintet, pleased the young audience with numbers especially adapted to the boys and girls.

Mr. Olson related of his experience during the past war as he went about his duties as a "spy" for the U. S. government. Dr. Wells concluded the program with an appealing address to the boys and girls. Many of the young people responded in an invitation to make Christ their personal Savior.

REMARriage OF WIDOW

Question: I am a widow about to remarry. My problem is may I properly send wedding announcements? If so, how should they be worded?

Answer: The sending of wedding announcements is always optional, even for a first marriage. As a widow remarrying, you may have your parents announce your marriage. A mature bride may announce her own wedding thus:

Mrs. John Smith and Mr. Anthony Roberts have the honour to announce their marriage etc., etc.

Question: I have been told that the bride and groom should not drink their own toast. Is this true?

Answer: The person toasted should never drink his own toast. At weddings, the best man usually proposes a toast to the bride and groom which they should not drink. The groom should respond for both him and the bride.

Question: When does the bride throw her bouquet and who should try to catch it?

Answer: As she goes up the stairs to change to travelling clothes, she should throw her bouquet to her attendants and all other single girls who care to gather at the foot of the stairs. It is a tradition that the one who catches it will be the next bride.

Question: What is the general rule about the date on "at home" cards inclosed with wedding invitations. That is how long after the wedding?

Answer: That depends upon the length of the wedding trip, the date of arrival in their new home and the bride and groom's personal wishes regarding the entertainment of guests, for the "at home" date announces the time after which friends may call on the bride and groom.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

NO MATTER THE WEATHER YOUR MILK IS DELIVERED

It may be a balmy June morning, or the streets may be glassy with ice. Rain or snow, hail or sun, your milk is on the back porch in the morning, fresh and pure, there because your milkman refuses to yield to the weather.

Milk delivery is just one example of the efficiency of modern motor trucks. A small package from a neighboring city, or a load of household goods to the coast. Motor trucks deliver the goods, on time, safely, certainly.

Urge New Setup To Replace U.N.

LONDON—(INS)—The first conference of the student movement for world government has been held in London to draw up a plan urging the immediate formation of a world constituent assembly to take over the work of the United Nations Organization.

The movement, formed here after the federalist conference held in Luxembourg last October, began with 12 members. Now it is over a thousand strong. Observers from similar organizations in the United States, France, Belgium, Holland, India and Switzerland attended the conference.

They believe that the United Nations Organization, as now constituted, must fail within five years or so. Their aim, therefore, is to raise support for the calling of a world constituent assembly which would in turn lead to the formation of a world government, the members of which would have renounced much of their national sovereignty.

CONSTRUCTIVE EARNINGS
KIRKLAND, Wash. — (INS)—Students in Lloyd Stills' vocational arts' class at Lake Washington high school are learning their lessons the easy way. They are actually building a six-room house on a nearby plot of land. The structure, when completed, will be sold to a veteran for around $9,000.

Cracks In House Waste Coal, Heat

NEW YORK—(INS)—"Plug up a crack and save a lump of coal," A. A. Emrick, chief engineer of the United States Radiator Corporation, advised today, in urging home owners to winterize houses against loss of heat.

Total size of the cracks around windows and doors in an average home is equivalent to a kitchen sink, through which pour great quantities of winter soot, wind, dust, and other unfavorable elements, said Emrick.

To avoid this condition, Emrick said, it is necessary to weather-strip all windows and doors and to caulk the cracks around them. In addition, roofs and flashings, attic floors and side walls, and unused portions of the house should be insulated.

Important factors insuring against the loss of heat and waste of fuel are the installation of winter vestibules, and equipping the home with automatic temperature controls and draft regulators.

Venetian glassmaking guilds reached the peak of their artistry in the 15th century, bringing importance and wealth to the canal city.

Expedition Will Explore Fabulous Africa Mysteries

CHICAGO.—(INS)—A party of explorers and radio technicians will leave Chicago in August for an expedition to Africa's fabulous Mountains of the Moon.

The party will be headed by Cmdr. Attilio Gatti, famed explorer and author who has spent 14 years in African study.

Haunts of obscure pygmy tribes and the "Living Pharaohs," the giant Watutsi princes, will be invaded by the band.

The technicians will study radio phenomena under climatic conditions ranging from snow-tipped mountains to steaming equatorial jungles.

SEARS' EMPLOYEES SHARE PROFITS

One group of the employees of the Sears, Roebuck & Co. store receiving their "share the profits" certificates from the store manager, C. M. Bashew. Receiving the certificates are Mac Minter, Mrs. Ann Homan, George Wallis and Don West.

The policy under which Sears, Roebuck and Co. employees share in the Company's profits, today made it possible for C. M. Bashew, Manager of the Sears store in this city, to present "good news" to his staff.

The "good news" was in the form of itemized statements handed out to 28 eligible employees, showing the extent to which they shared in the distribution of Sears 1946 profits. These profits have been credited to each employee's account in the Savings and Profit Sharing Pension Fund of Sears, Roebuck and Co. Employees.

All Sears employees are eligible to join this Fund after one year of continuous service and the 28 New Castle employees who are members have to their credit an aggregate of 1066 shares of Sears stock plus a cash balance of $9,371.91. Based on a year-end market value of 38 1/2 per share for Sears stock this group has an investment worth in the aggregate $30,812.66. Employee members of the Fund contribute 5% of their salaries into their individual account each year with the maximum contribution limited to $250.00 annually. Company contributions into the Fund from annual profits are distributed proportionately depending on length of service.

Year's Benefits
This year those employees with less than 5 years' service with Sears had credited to the account, $127 for every dollar they themselves contributed. Employees who have been with the Company from 5 to 10 years received $254 for every dollar saved. For those with over

Life Begins At 40 For Inventors

PITTSBURGH.—(INS)—Life begins at 40 for inventors. At least, that's the finding of Thomas Spooner, veteran executive of the Westinghouse Electric corporation, after 20-year study of the output of American inventors.

Spooner said the study of 150 scientists' work revealed that more than half of 100 outstanding inventions were contributed by men past 36, while 35 percent of the total were developed by inventors who had passed their 40th birthday.

"While sudden flashes of inventive genius may and often do occur among very young scientists, their most important and numerous contributions are made after they pass 30 and continue a steady climb until they reach a peak at age 43," Spooner said.

At 24 years of age Alexander the Great conquered the world.

Wampum Eliminates E. Washington In W. P. I. A. L. Play-Off, 44-37

Indians Advance To Semi-Finals By Win Over Classy "Ghosts"

Dave Kanagy Stars For Hennon Passers With 14 Points; Palmer Paces Losers; Indians Behind At Half But Spurt To Cop Game; Play Snowden Monday Night.

(By News Staff Writer)

DORMONT, Mar. 8.—East Washington High's Ghosts proved quite less than supernatural here last night as Wampum's plucky Indians eliminated them in a second-round W. P. I. A. L. play-off tilt 44-37 before 1,200 thrilled fans.

The victory sent the Hennon passers into the semi-finals of the tourney; their next encounter being against Snowden High of Section XII Monday night here—and for the Ghosts it meant the end of a long trail of wins—stopped at 23 straight. The Grover-coached quint had been the only unbeaten team in the district until Wampum cut them down.

Refuse to Quit

Wampum proved last night that their courage and will to win are two of their biggest assets. After the Redskins flipped had jumped to an early lead in the first frame, 15-8, the Redskins refused to panic and went on to score 12 points in each of the remaining stanzas to overcome their foes and emerge victors again.

It was almost a repeat of the Leedsdale game last week in that the Indians found themselves out-gained at the half-way post only to catch fire and win in the final quarters.

Kanagy-Palmer Star

Dave Kanagy was the big bomber in the Wampum attack—dumpling in seven fields for 14 points—while Dick Palmer, East Washington's long-legged center, hit for five two-players and four fouls to also garner 14.

Art Malmberg, highly-touted Ghost scoring ace, got 12 markers but neither his nor Palmer's points did too much damage to the Indians once they gained the lead—Malmberg missing five out of seven charity tosses and missing a lot of his hook shots by a wide margin.

Coach Hennon found a bit of fire in little Ralph Mohr, who was injected into the game early and played his best game of the season. The chunky little red-head was all over the court and sparked the Wampum rally with his great ball control.

Ed McMullen played a great game for the Redskins, banking in 10 points, while Ray Jackson was a power on rebounds in the second half. Miller also subbed well for the Indians, replacing "Chuck" Badger at a forward post when mounting fouls necessitated removing him.

Take First Period

East Washington started out like a well-oiled machine, with Palmer and Malmberg setting the pace with their point-dunking and great rebound work. The count was 6-0 before McMullen hit with a Wampum lay-up and the Ghosts kept moving to sweep to a 15-8 edge at the period's end.

Things looked black for Wampum

Huff And Baxter Both Ex-Soldiers

Baxter Hopes To Win His First Fight Here Since Turning Pro'

HUFF ANXIOUS TO BEAT 'RUSS'

When Larry Huff of Pittsburgh battles Russell Baxter of New Castle Wednesday night in The Arena it will be a fight between two ex-servicemen, both having been in World War II. They are middleweights.

Before going into service Huff had 65 amateur fights and since receiving his honorable discharge he has fought Charley Zivie, Henry Jackson, Red Stein, Sam Ross, Art Kimmel and Regis O'Brien.

He likes to stand off and box at long range until he sees an opening for a right or left. According to reports from Pittsburgh, he carries a punch laden with dynamite.

Among those who felt the power of his wallop was Regis O'Brien, who returned from military service, knocked five good bouts then suffered a knockout by Huff.

Baxter fought here as an amateur and after being inducted into service fought around New York state and New England and amassed quite a reputation before going to the E. T. O.

While in Europe he was a member of Billy Conn's traveling troupe. He boxed with Conn several times. After leaving military service his record was dotted with success until recently.

Defeated Jimmy Lee

Baxter started off his 1946 fights with a knockout over Jim Crowe and won from Johnny King. Battling Stroud and Abe Hopes. In a tough fight with Johnny Harvey he earned a draw.

He fought a fast but losing fight with the sharpshooting Mickie Doyle of Cleveland then fell prey to Mike Berskovich and lost thrice to Henry Smith, Ken Strubling and Herb Kronowitz.

In his fight with Kronowitz which was in Brooklyn, he claimed he was "jobbed" out of the fight. Later he came back to whip a good boy, Eddie Richardson, in Binghamton, N. Y.

He had Perry Mason on the floor in Toledo and went to Chicago and fought the good Jimmy Lee. He upset the dope by winning from Lee, who up to the fight was thought to be going places pugilistically.

He wasn't in condition when he boxed Chris Tabor at Akron and took on Al Powell, an unorthodox fighter in Youngstown, but of which he got a draw.

Huff is training in Pittsburgh. A win over Baxter will boost his stock. Baxter is training with Bill Bradley at the Jefferson A. C. and he hopes to make a good impression in his first pro' fight in his home town.

"I want to win this fight badly," said Baxter today, "because it is the first time I have fought as a professional here. Don't worry about my condition. I'll be in the 'pink' Wednesday night," he said today.

Purdue-Wisconsin Will Finish Title Game This Evening

Game Halted At End Of First Half By Bleacher Collapse Will Be Finished

EVANSTON, Ill., Mar. 8.—(INS)—There wasn't a seat to be had today as the hopeful, the faithful, the charitable and the curious descended upon the site of tonight's unique Big Nine cage title runoff between Purdue and Wisconsin.

The strange faces of these weird 20 minutes of basketball are known to most of the fans by now, but here they are again:

The Badgers and Boilermakers will take up their game where they left off Feb. 24 when bleachers collapsed during the half at Purdue. Purdue leads at the half, 34 to 33.

A Wisconsin win will mean an exclusive title for the Badgers. A Purdue triumph will settle Wisconsin into a title tie with Illinois and Indiana.

Bessemer-Shenango In Tourney Finals

Bessemer Edges Union 35-33, Shenango Defending Champs Dump Evans City 45-33

Finals Tonight At Washington High Will Draw Packed House, Doors Open At 6:45

With over 1,000 fans jammed into the Washington high gym last night the Tri-County Third annual tourney concluded the semi-finals with Shenango and Bessemer slated to meet tonight for the championship, by virtue of having defeated Evans City and Union.

The consolation game tonight will find Mars and Mt. Jackson tangling at 7:30 o'clock. The doors at Washington high will open at 6:45 o'clock, Chandler McMillan announced.

Mayberry Stars Again

Shenango defeated Evans City in the first semi-final 45 to 33 with Big "Stretch" Mayberry the star as usual with 15 points, followed by Johns and McGary. The Eddie Nabas passers, defending champions looked good. The Wildcats jumped in the first period, and at the half led 26 to 7. Evans City did better the second half, scoring 26 points to 19 for Shenango.

Bessemer Edges Union

A determined Bessemer high team staved off a last minute rush by the Union High Scotties to gain the final 35 to 33 in a thriller. At the first period Bessemer led 6 to 2 and at the half 15 to 8. There were no outstanding Bessemer stars in the game—all five of the regulars being about equal in scoring and defensive ability. Anderson led with 10 points, and Glass had eight. Smith and Conti were best for the Unionites.

Good Battle Assured

A good battle is assured tonight when the two county rivals tangle. Shenango hopes to repeat their 1946 Tri-County tourney triumph and Bessemer is determined that a new champ will be crowned. Chandler McMillan of the Tri-County tourney committee announced that a trophy will go to the champs, but that it was doubtful if it would arrive in time for presentation tonight.

Consolation Games

In the consolation games last night Mt. Jackson defeated New Wilmington 45 to 41 in a well played contest, with Emery starring with 12 points, followed by Julian with 12. Hartwell was best in the New Wilmington lineup with 14 points, followed by Elder with 12.

Mars erased Zeilenpion in the other consolation battle 38 to 31 with no outstanding stars in either lineup. It was a hard-fought game.

The tourney committee, Chandler McMillan, Glen Johnston, and Walt Whitman are very gratified at the turnouts for the tourney and with the way the tourney is being handled by the New Castle high officials.

With the score tied at 1-1 in the fourth inning, and the bases loaded, Leroy Jarvis lashed a sharp single to left. The runners were off with the pitch and all three scored standing up.

Bivins Favored To Beat Charles

Men Who Wager Pick Bivins Because He Has Rounded Into 'Shape'

CLEVELAND, Mar. 8.—Jimmy Bivins will enter the local Arena ring Monday night a slight favorite to take the measure of Ezzard Charles and this despite the fact that the latter won an unanimous decision over Bivins at Pittsburgh only last November.

The boys who wage lucre on the outcome of fistie things locally figure that Bivins is once more in excellent condition. In fact, Bivins himself is predicting a knockout win for himself "about half way through the fight".

Both Bivins and Charles have much at stake in this match. A win for Bivins will definitely place him in a coveted spot for a shot at Heavyweight Champ Joe Louis this summer. Charles, No. 1 light-heavyweight, cannot lose his high rating among the 175-pounders if he loses, but if he takes a good beating at the hands of Bivins he, Ezzard, may be a long time in recovering from the ill effects of a sound thrashing.

Levine Wins From Herbie Kronowitz

NEW YORK, Mar. 8.—(INS)—Artie Levine, Brooklyn ex-marine, today held a disputed but unanimous decision over Herbie Kronowitz, promising Coney Island middleweight.

Levine, a 5 to 18 favorite got off to a slow start in their ten-round bout at Madison Square Garden last night, but his superior experience and punching power earned him the verdict.

A crowd of 11,886 paid $50,943 to witness the bout.

Bill Edwards Will Coach In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Mar. 8.—(INS)—Bill Edwards, former grid pilot of the Detroit Lions of the National Pro Football league, was named new tackle coach of the Cleveland Browns Tuesday.

Edwards, an all-Ohio tackle at Wittenberg college and for six years head coach at Western Reserve university in Cleveland, has been signed to replace Bob Voigts, newly-appointed head coach at Northwestern university.

BRINGING UP FATHER

BY GEORGE McMANUS

WELL! JERRY—HOW IS EVERYTHING AT HOME?

SHE'S ALWAYS WELL—BUT SHE MAKES ME SICK—

WHAT'S THE TROUBLE? DOES SHE LIKE TO ARGUE?

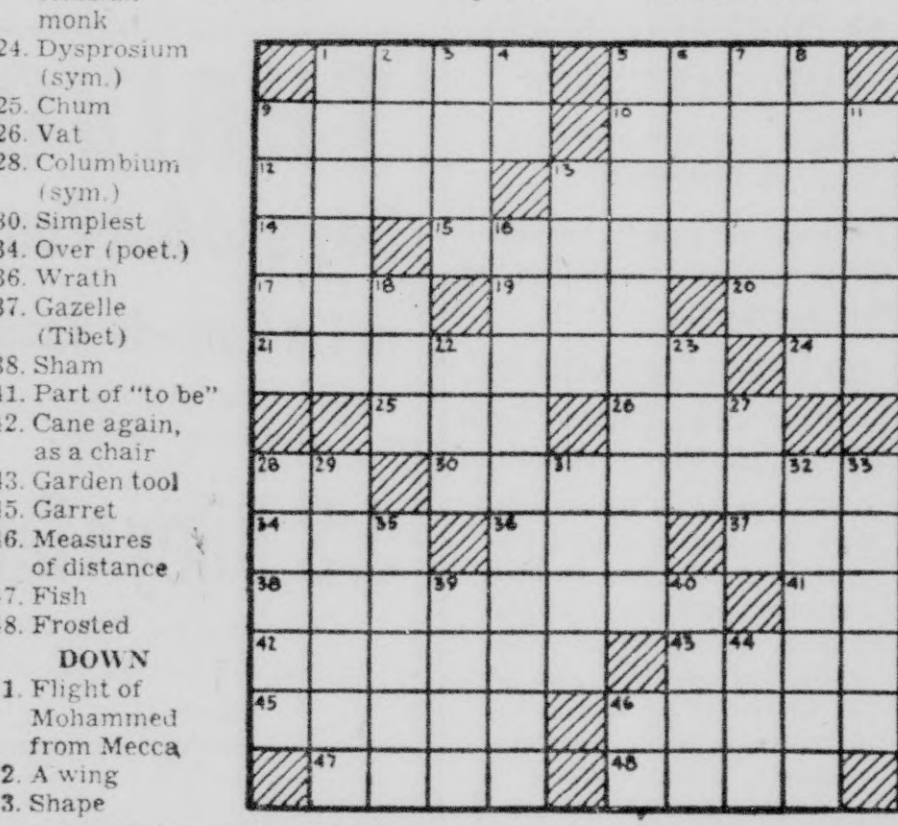

YEH—BUT I NEVER GET A CHANCE TO ARGUE!

I DON'T KNOW WHY MY PARENTS TAUGHT ME TO SPEAK—I NEVER GET A CHANCE TO SAY ANYTHING—

I ALWAYS HAVE THE LAST WORD AT HOME—

SPRAY FRUIT TREES NOW TO CONTROL APHIDS

Fruit growers in Lawrence county are preparing to control diseases and insects by following a complete spray program. Control measures require the use of several different materials which should be purchased well in advance of the time when they are to be applied.

Apple and cherry growers will apply the first spray before the buds begin to show any green color. The spray may be put on at any time when the temperature is above 40 degrees and there is no danger of a rapid drop in temperature. This spray consists of one and one-half pounds of DN (di-nitro) powder per 100 gallons of spray. Three pints of liquid DN may be used.

The DN spray, if properly applied, will control aphids. These are tiny sucking insects which curl the leaves, and which have been very troublesome on sweet cherries.

Anyone wishing more information about spraying fruit trees may secure it from the Agricultural Extension office, No. 206 Post Office building, New Castle. Each year letters with timely information about apple sprays are sent to those growers who request them.

Sponges are popularly regarded as some sort of sea plant, but in reality they are the skeletons of a low type of animal. They are reproduced by means of eggs, and the developed larvae are partly clothed with small hairs, which enable them to swim or drift around until they find suitable places for adhesion.

MILKERS AND DISEASE

Milk is perhaps our most valuable and popular food. Like all good things, it has some drawbacks.

One drawback is the fact that it may be a carrier of disease. It helps germs to grow just the same as it helps boys to grow.

It is very important that those who care for cows and handle milk should be free from disease.

If a milkster has a disease and the germs get into the milk there may be trouble.

Pasteurization is our best safeguard. Cows should be healthy. Stables should be sanitary. Milksters should be free from disease. Apparatus should be clean. Bottles should be sterile.

Milk should be pasteurized. Then the bottled milk should be cooled promptly and kept cold till used.
